

Blog – Individual Contribution

During Sprint 2, I was mostly responsible for preparing an extensive planning for the team and provide the latter with all the information needed to successfully implement the features required for the sprint.

Other than planning, I was involved directly with implementing some of the features of the web page in the frontend side of the application.

Here is a detailed blog explaining what I did during Sprint 2:

10 October 2024:

- Meeting:
 - Discussed Sprint 2 planning
 - Brainstormed user stories
 - Performed a retrospective on Sprint 1
- Hours spent: 1

16 October 2024:

- Documentation:
 - Sprint 2 planning:
 - Wrote the user stories for sprint 2
 - Broke down the user stories into tasks and assigned them to different team members based on their area of expertise detected after sprint 1.
 - Defined the priority and risk levels for each user story.
 - Prepared a form to implement the “poker” method for selecting story points for the user stories.
- Hours spent: 2

20 October 2024:

- Implementation:
 - Created the mockup designs for all the pages that have to be implemented for Sprint 2.
 - Commented the mockup designs to indicate how the website should behave upon button clicks

Dara Dadgar
ID: 40228407

- Hours spent: 2

21 October 2024:

- Documentation:
 - Wrote a total of three acceptance tests (two for sprint 1 stories and one for sprint 2 stories)
 - Researched on CI/CD to learn how to implement it on our own GitHub repo
- Hours spent: 2

24 October 2024:

- Meeting:
 - Follow-up on Sprint 2 implementation
 - Clarified ambiguities around Backend to Frontend Communications
 - Setup Docker for better project management and modular design
 - Prepared a list of routes for the backend team to ensure proper backend infrastructure
- Hours spent: 2

26 October 2024:

- Implementation:
 - Implemented the CI/CD feature on GitHub using Actions
 - Worked on Frontend pages (teammate evaluation)
 - Established FE to BE communication
- Hours spent: 5